

2022 GRENVILLE CLARK AWARD

The Grenville Clark Award is given to a faculty member or administrator whose voluntary activities serve to advance the cause of peace and human rights. Nicole McNeil has dedicated her academic career to children's thinking and well-being. She played a supporting role in promoting Restorative Justice Education to the South Bend Community School Corporation and is an advocate for evidence-based educational practices to improve the lives of children and families. An avid mentor of young researchers and a champion for research-practice partnerships, she bridges the divide between theory and practice. She is the creator, organizer, administrator, and evaluator of TutorND, a free tutoring program for the Notre Dame and South Bend community created in response to the needs arising from the global pandemic. She also regularly tutors within TutorND, embracing the mantra of learning as a mechanism for justice in the world.
